

GDP per capita in Africa from 2001 to 2011

Dhafer Malouche

GDP per capita growth rate from 2001 to 2011

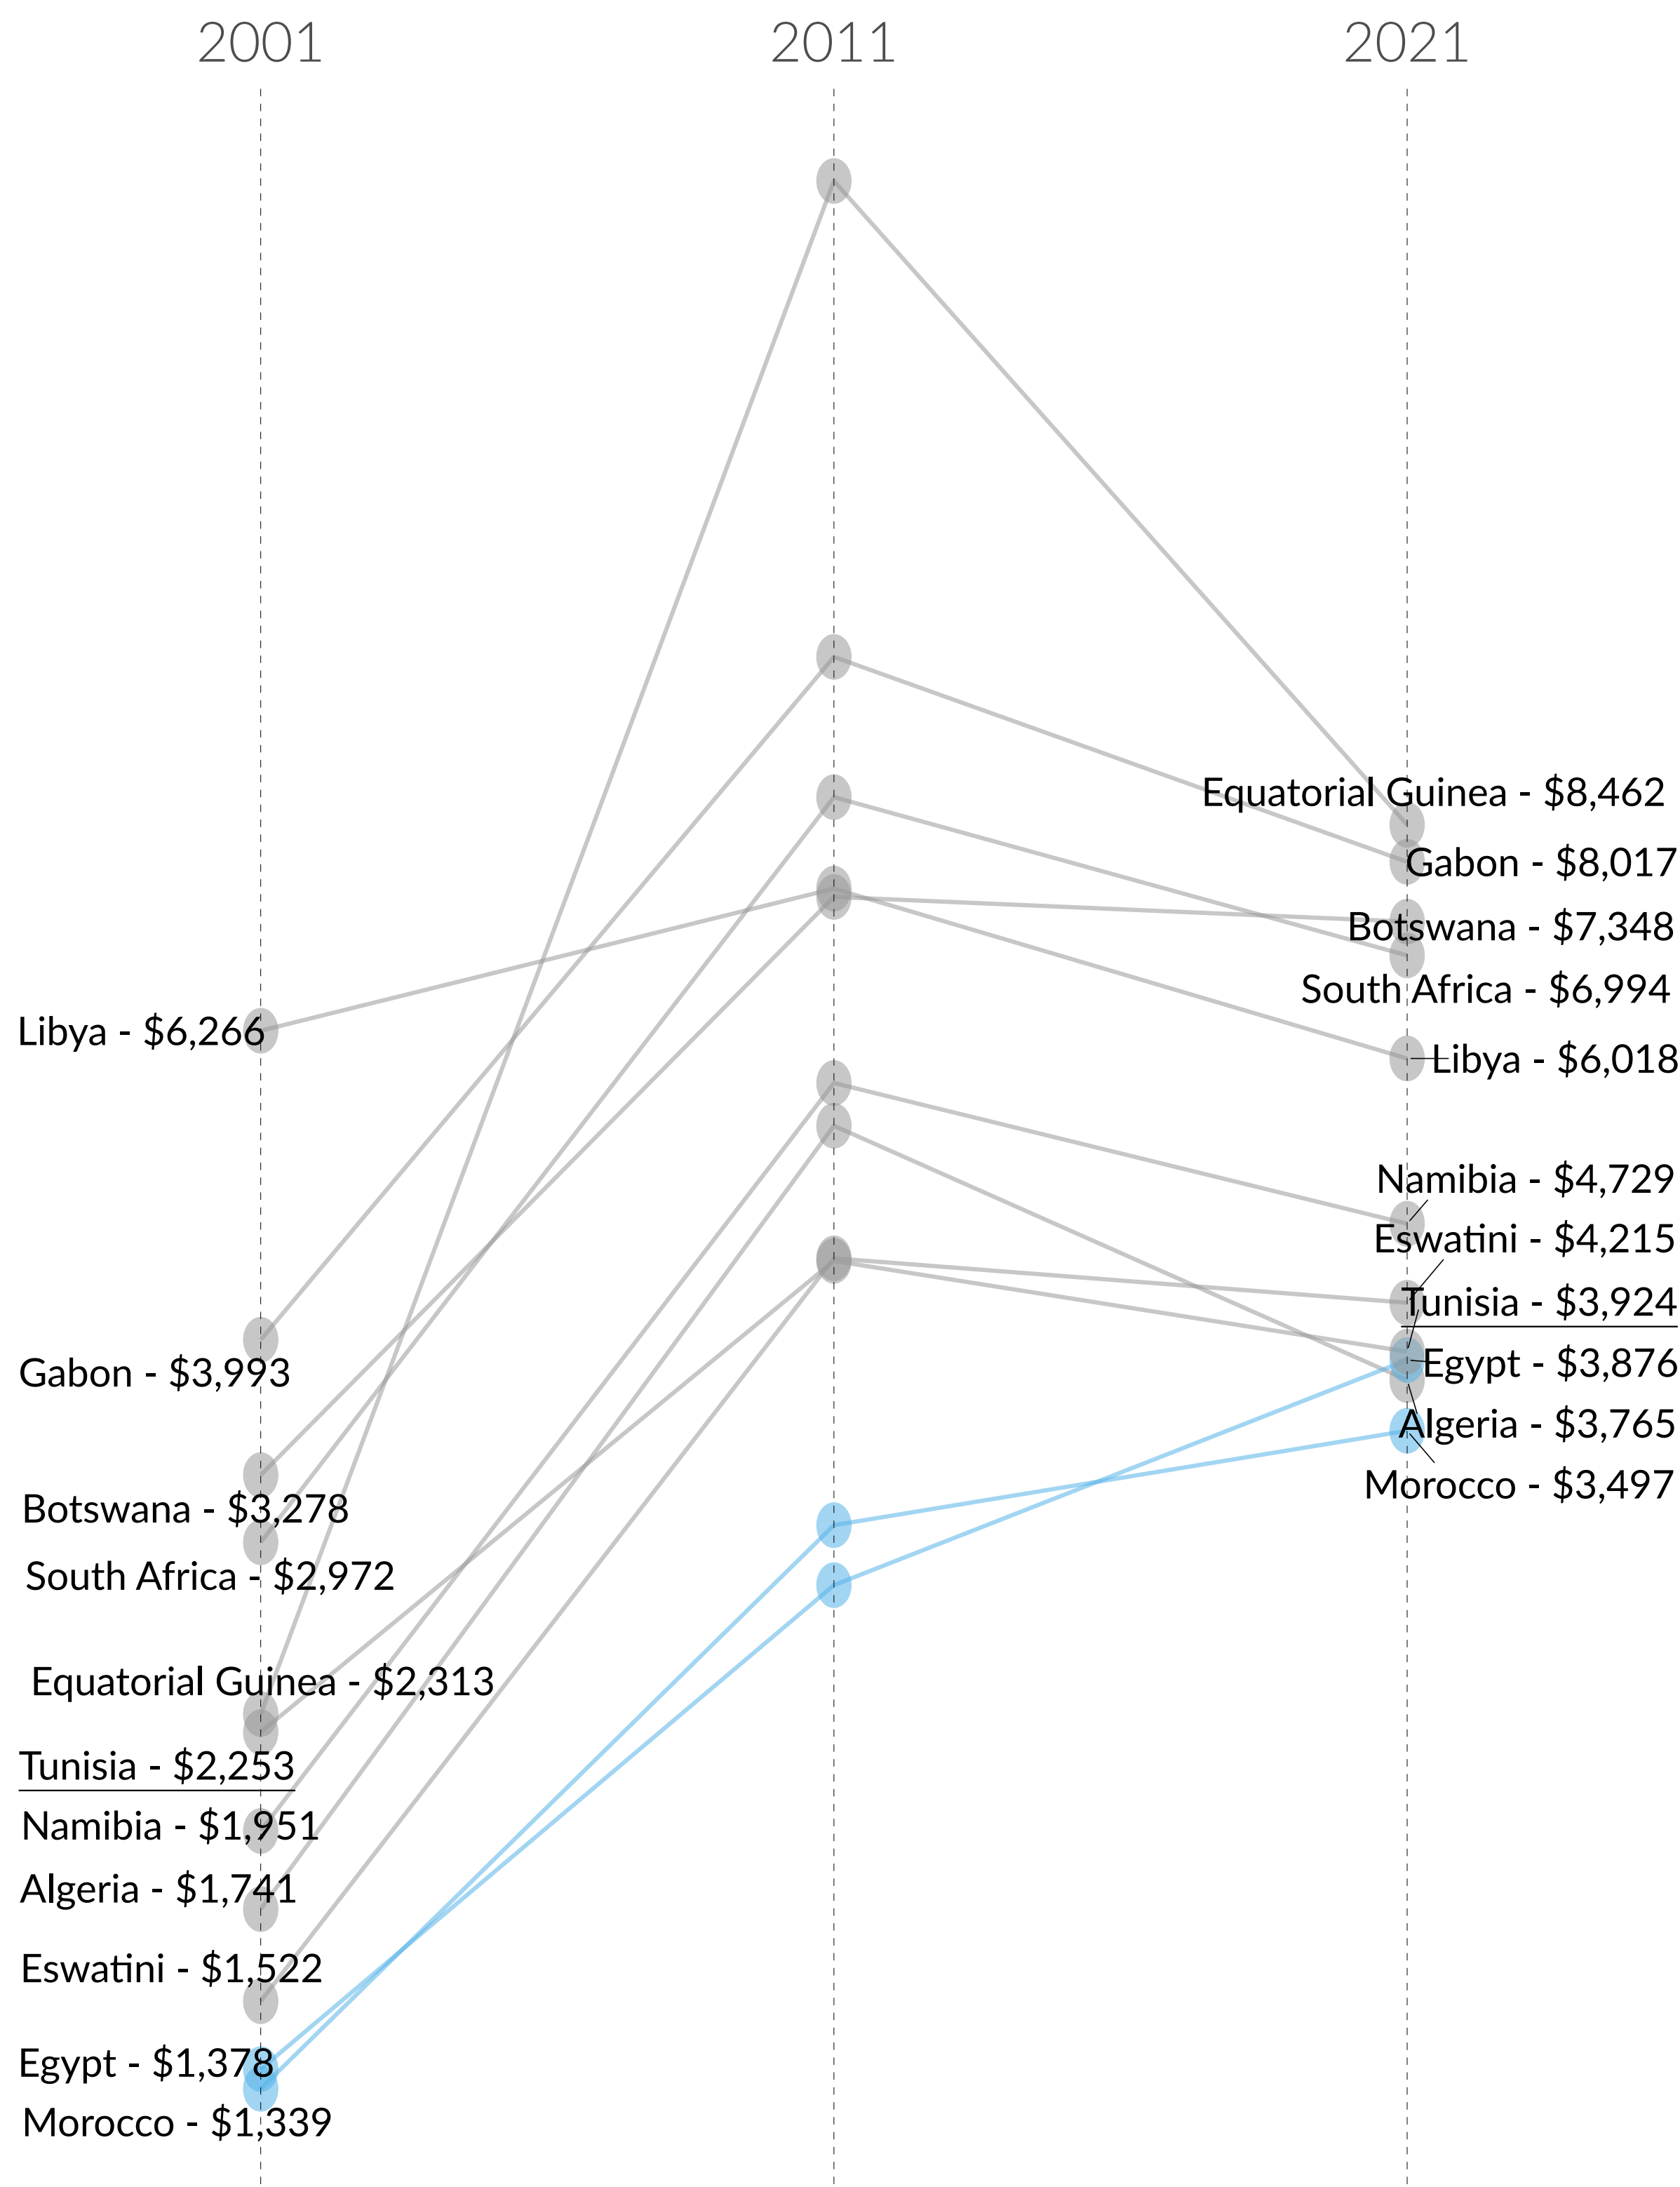

Tunisian's GDP per capita versus the African GDP per capita

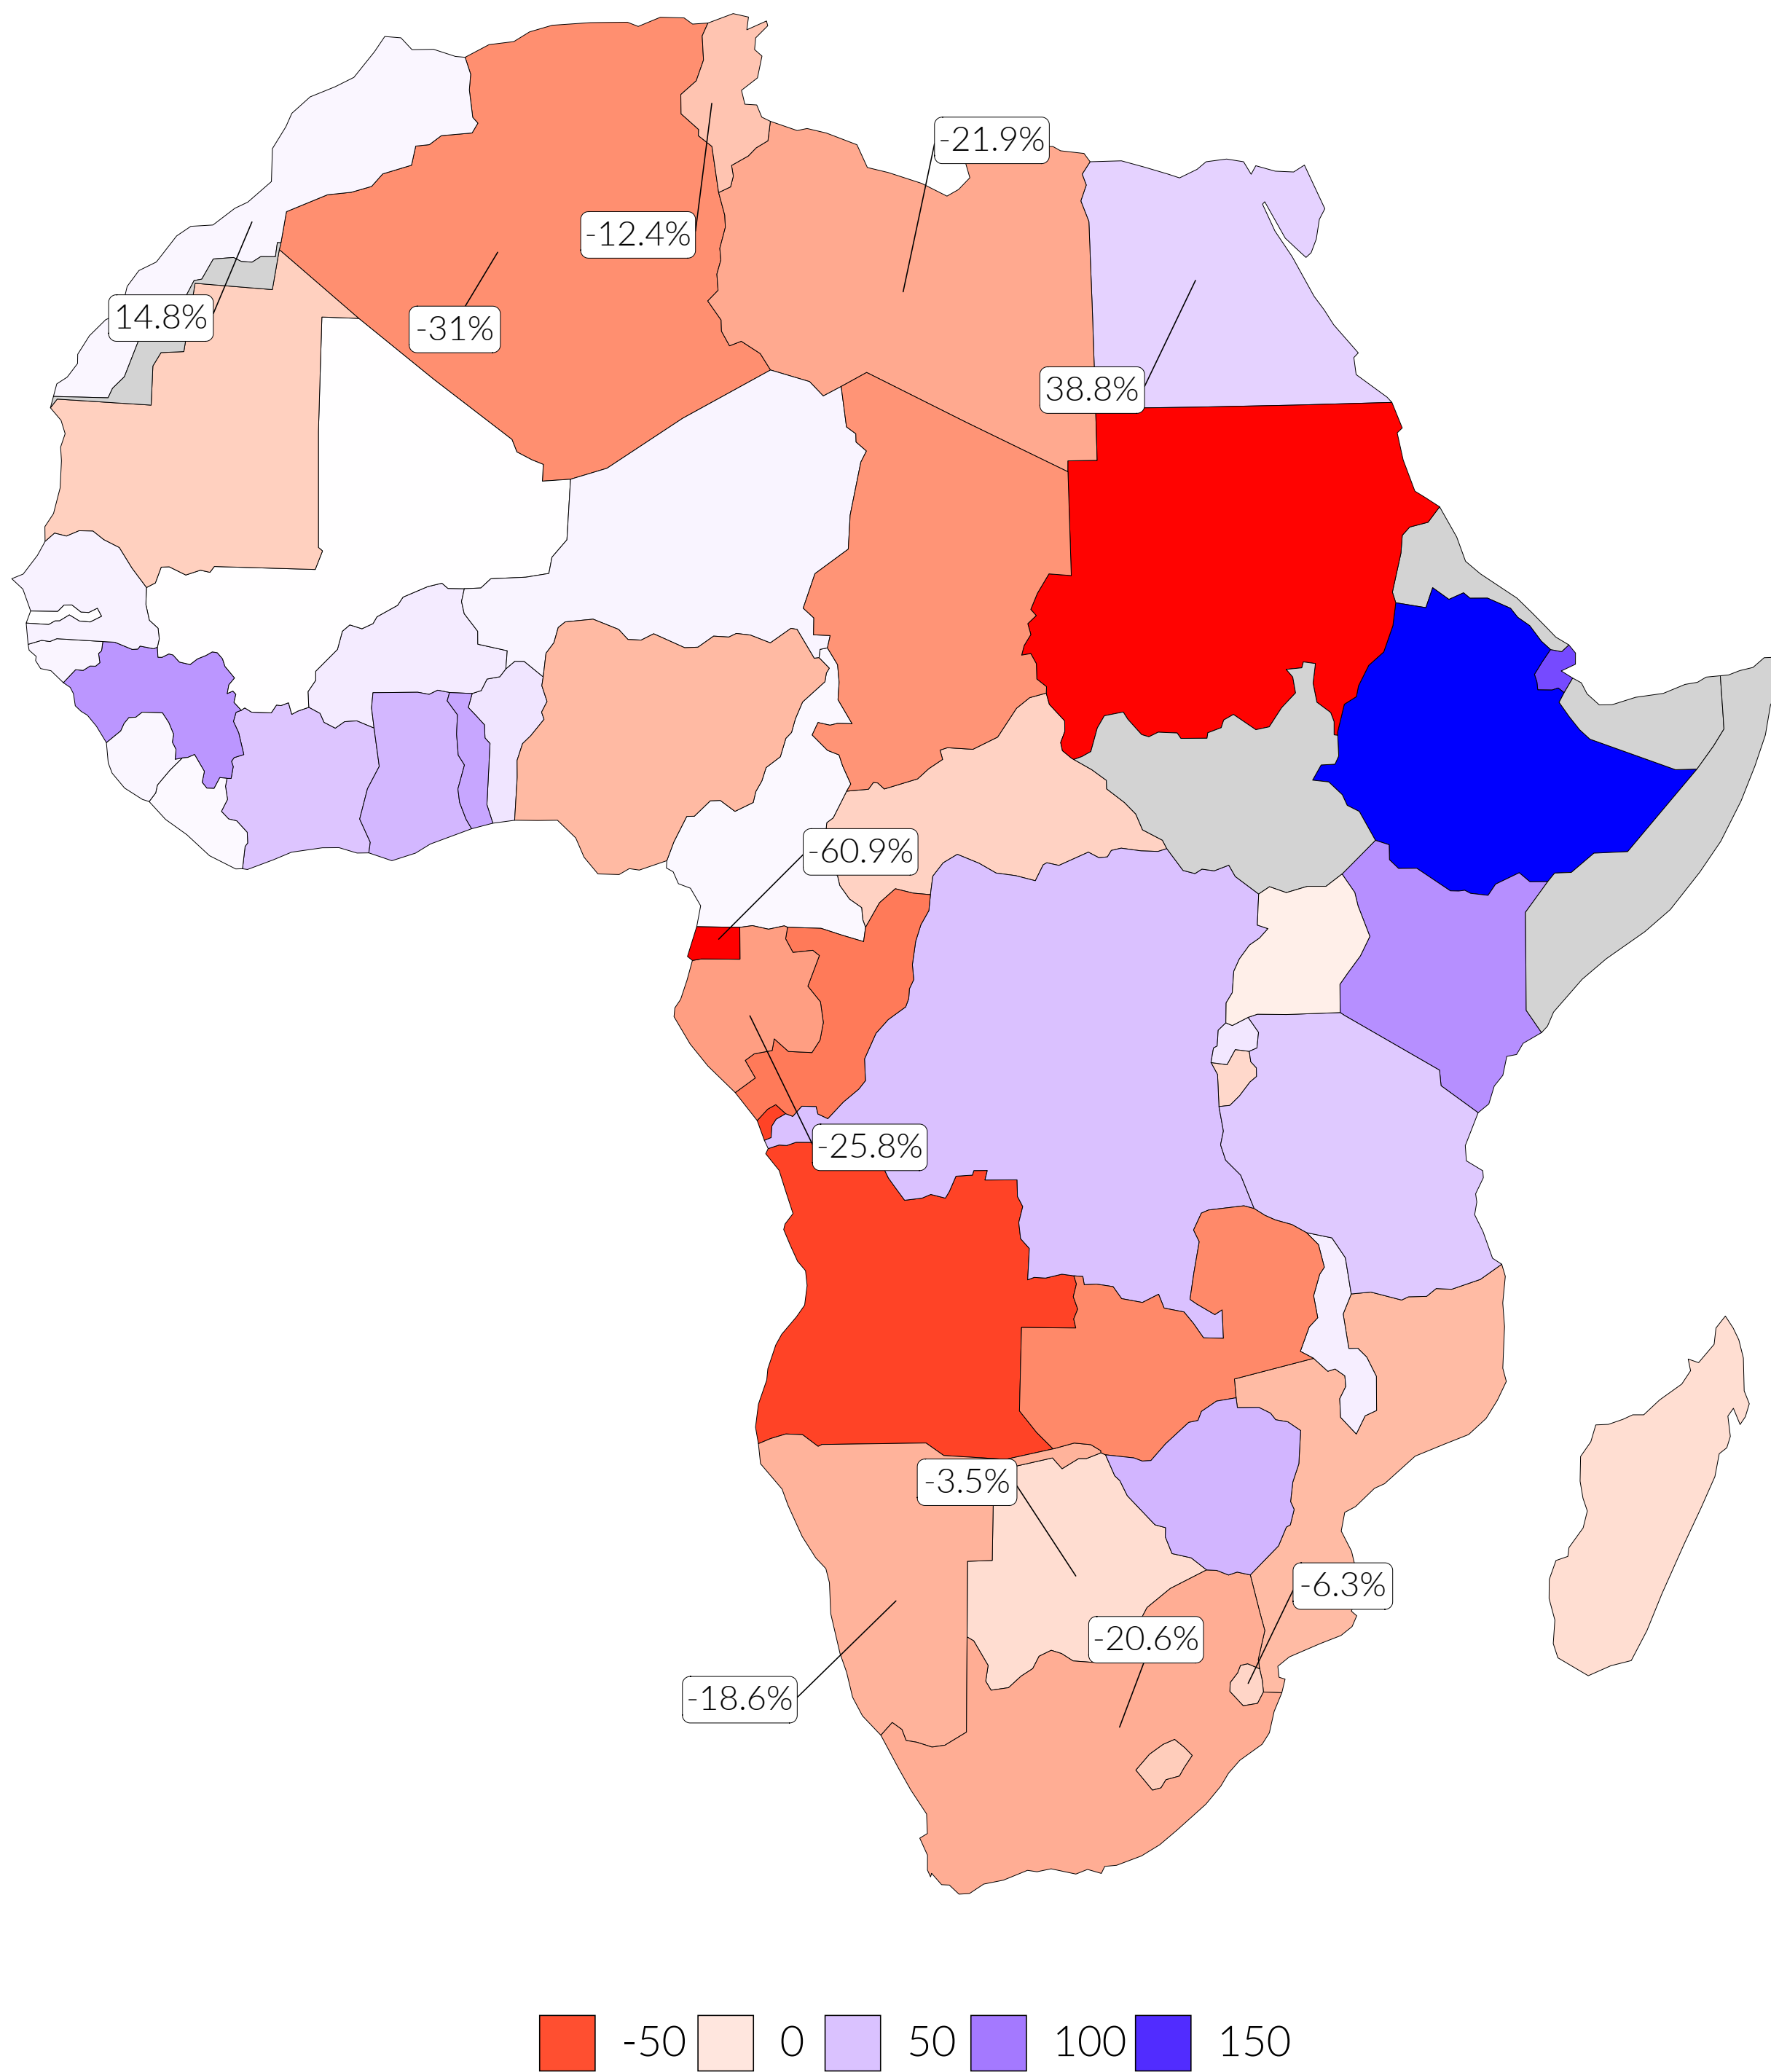

In 2002, Tunisia's GDP per capita reached three times the African one. After ten years, this rate dropped to almost 2. It didn't grow anymore.

African Countries with GDP per capita higher than $1,000
(2001-2011-2010)

In 2001, The GDP per capita in Tunisia was $2,253. Ten years later, in 2011, this indicator grew by 98.8%. It became almost equal to $4,480. This indicator grew almost at the same rate in Morocco and Egypt during the same period. From 2011 to 2021, the Tunisian GDP per capita decreased by 12.8%. Unlike Morocco and Egypt, their GDP per capita has positively grown (38.8% in Egypt and 14% in Morocco).

GDP per capita growth from 2011 to 2021

Data

The data used for this Dashboard is extracted from the World Bank Open Data Website (<https://data.worldbank.org/>)

Author: Dhafer Malouche, Professor of Statistics at the Department of Mathematics, Statistics and Physics, College of Arts and Sciences, Qatar University, 2713, Doha, Qatar.